
Introduction and Acknowledgements

ConXtions is an information and referral resource that contains information selected and edited from many sources and compiled into one convenient directory. The editors and committee members who worked on ConXtions hope that you use it to help your students and clients overcome barriers they encounter as they work toward their educational, vocational, and personal goals.

ConXtions includes the locations and services of adult basic education and adult literacy programs; locations and contact information for WV public libraries; financial assistance application information; resources for child-care and transportation; Workforce WV Center locations; names and locations of organizations and agencies that can assist with family nutrition and crises; providers of reduced-cost health care and prescription medications; and information on obtaining representation on legal issues facing many WV adults.

ConXtions is a joint project of the Governor's Council on Literacy/WV Literacy Foundation, the WV Department of Education's Office of Adult Education and Workforce Development, and Regional Education Service Agency III (RESA III). The individuals responsible for researching and compiling information contained within it and for its design and distribution are Kathy Hollingsworth, public outreach coordinator for the WV adult basic education program (WVABE) and Governor's Council on Literacy committee staff liaison; Pam Bryan, special populations coordinator for WVABE; David Coccari, regional coordinator for WVABE; Susan Hayden, literacy coordinator for the WV Library Commission and member of the Governor's Council on Literacy; and Joy Mason, coordinator with the Center for Excellence in Disabilities.

The complete directory is available on www.wvabe.org and www.wvliteracy.org where the most up-to-date information can be obtained.
